Check the Ride: how to pitch it

KLC Operator Records Check. Company-level public records on a limo, party-bus or charter operator, before anyone books.

YOUR LINKS (THESE NEVER CHANGE)

- Customer page and video: klcautomation.github.io/check-the-ride
- Partner packet (demo, PDFs): klcautomation.github.io/check-the-ride/partners/

THE 20-SECOND PITCH

> "Your guests book rides off your recommendations. We check the company's public federal records (DOT authority, insurance on file, inspections, crashes and recalls) before anyone books, so you're not vouching for a company you don't really know. Here's a 15-second look." Then show the video, leave the one-pager and get a name.

WHO TO TARGET

- Hotel concierges, front-desk and guest-services managers. They field limo and party-bus requests every weekend.
- Wedding venues and their event coordinators, plus independent wedding planners.
- Event and corporate planners, destination-management companies and convention-hotel sales teams.
- Spring race-season and bourbon-tour hosts: groups booking chauffeured tours and big-weekend transport.
- Prom and after-prom parent committees. Talk to the adults organizing, not the students.

HOW A LEAD WORKS

- Show the video, leave the one-pager, and write your name on the "Referred by" line so the sale is credited to you.
- Get the contact's name, role, email and phone, and text or email it to Jacob the same day.
- Jacob handles quotes, payment and the report. You never take payment.

PRICING (ONLY WHEN THEY ASK)

$49 single check · $349 10-pack (about $35 a check) · $99 operator self-report (for a limo company checking its own records). Keep price out of the opening pitch. Bring it up when they ask.

THREE OBJECTIONS AND WHAT TO SAY

"We already use a limo company we trust."

Great. Then the check is a quick confirmation and something to keep on file. It's about the company's public records, not about doubting your judgment. And when you refer someone new, you'll have the records in hand.

"Can't I just look this up on FMCSA myself?"

You can, and it's free. Most people don't, because the records sit across several federal datasets: census, licensing and insurance, inspections, crashes and NHTSA recalls. We pull them into one plain-English PDF so you don't have to dig.

"So this means the company is safe?"

No, and we never say that. It shows what the public records show as of the report date. It's not a safety rating or an endorsement. Always get a current certificate of insurance straight from the operator.

YOUR SPLIT

Your first 5 sales	50 / 50 split with KLC
Every sale after that	You keep 25% of each sale from clients you brought in, for as long as they keep buying

Example: a hotel buys a $349 10-pack as one of your first 5 sales, and you earn $174.50. After your first 5, a $349 reorder from that same hotel earns you $87.25. (Splits are on the sale price; Jacob confirms how any card fees are handled.) You're an independent referral partner, not a KLC employee. Jacob confirms payout timing in writing.

GROUND RULES (THIS IS WHAT KEEPS IT WORKING)

Say:	"Check the records before you book." Company records only, from public federal data.
Never say:	"safety rating," "safe," "verified," "approved," "certified," "endorsed," or "background check." Never promise a ride is safe.
No drivers:	We don't check individual drivers. It's company-level records only.
No bad-mouthing:	Don't name, rank or criticize any specific limo or bus company.
No side deals:	Don't take payment, quote custom prices or promise turnaround times. Send it to Jacob.
Disclaimer:	Whenever you show the product, the disclaimer below goes with it. It's already on the video and the one-pager.

WHY STICK WITH IT

- It costs you nothing to sell: no inventory, no boss, no upfront cost.
- Hotels and planners book rides all year, and a 10-pack client reorders, so your 25% keeps paying.
- Five planners on 10-packs is real money. The first few clients are the hardest, so stay with it past the first "no."

Disclaimer: Not a safety rating or endorsement; does not replace FMCSA (or KYTC/FMCSA for KY, Indiana DOR/FMCSA for IN intrastate); verify insurance directly. Informational only, not legal or insurance advice.
